

George Warren Taylor (1841-1914): Register of Deaths, 1853-1905

By Jerry Long

George Warren Taylor (1841-1914), of the Bell's Run community of Ohio County, KY kept a booklet entitled "Memorandum Book of Geo. W. Taylor". The booklet consisted of 154 pages on which he recorded various events such as weather conditions but most entries were deaths. His register recorded 492 deaths spanning the years of 1853-1905. Most of the people listed were from the north eastern section of Ohio County, KY but some were from other counties. For most of the years during this period there were no official death records recorded by the county or state. I have discovered many death dates in the register that I can find no other documentation for their date of death.

George Warren Taylor's Memorandum Book descended to his daughter, Mary Lou Taylor Chapman (1867-1949), to her son, Archie Bruce Chapman (1895-1969), and to his son, Anthony Lamar Chapman (1921-1990). On 28 May 1980 I visited Lamar Chapman & his wife, Audrey Whitehouse Chapman (1923-1997) at their home at Pleasant Ridge in Ohio County, KY. They graciously allowed me to copy pages from the Memorandum Book of George W. Taylor, two pictures of the family of George Warren Taylor and several pages of a family register listing a record of the family of George Warren's grandparents, John Peyton Taylor & Mary Davis. A listing of the latter record, "John Peyton Taylor Family Record" can be found at wckyhhistory-genealogy.org

In the following transcription of the deaths recorded in the Memorandum Book of George W. Taylor the information in parenthesis was recorded in the original register and that in brackets are annotations made by Jerry Long (identifying information - correct name, maiden name, or parents).

History of Kentucky: The Blue Grass State, Vol.III, The S. J. Clarke Publishing Co., Chicago-Louisville, 1928, pp.315-316:

ALFRED P. TAYLOR

Alfred P. Taylor, an educator of broad experience and proven worth, has been connected with the public schools of Owensboro for more than twenty years and possesses those sterling traits of industry and perseverance which in the long run spell success. He was born September

2, 1870, in Ohio county, Kentucky, and represents one of the pioneer families of the state. His parents, George Warren and Susan E. (Walker) Taylor, were lifelong residents of Ohio county. The mother was a daughter of Stephen Walker, a well known agriculturist of that county.

George W. Taylor was born in February, 1841, and also made farming his life work. He was a Baptist in religious faith and for a quarter of a century was clerk of his church. He was an adherent of the democratic party and filled the office of justice of the peace. His wife was born April 13, 1842, and her demise occurred in May, 1923, when she was eighty-one years of age. George W. Taylor was a son of Thomas L. and Sallie (McCormick) Taylor, who always resided in Ohio county. The father was a prosperous agriculturist, owning many acres of fertile land, and exerted a strong and beneficial influence in his community. He was a member of the Baptist church and voted the democratic ticket. His father migrated from Virginia to Kentucky and purchased land in Ohio county, owning what is now known as Taylor's field. His last years were spent in the Bells Run district, about six miles west of the locality in which he first settled.

The public schools of his native county afforded Alfred P. Taylor his early educational opportunities, and when he was fifteen years of age he laid aside his textbooks, assuming the responsibility of operating the homestead, as his father was an invalid. For six years he devoted his energies to the cultivation and improvement of the place and when he reached the age of twenty-one years was able to resume his studies, intrusting the task of operating the farm to a younger brother. He reentered the public schools and for two terms attended a subscription school for adults, afterward taking a teacher's examination. He taught for three years in rural schools of Ohio county and was later an instructor- in village and town schools in the counties of Henderson, Todd and Ohio. He was graduated from Hartford College and received from the State University of Kentucky the degree of A. B. in education. He was engaged in teaching in Beaver Dam, Ohio county, for a time and in 1905 came to Owensboro. He was principal of the Walnut Street school and the Seventh Street school for several years and since 1923 has been supervisor of testing and classification in the elementary schools of the city. Mr. Taylor is an able educator, well qualified by natural talent and comprehensive training for the profession of his choice, and his work has been highly satisfactory. He has also achieved success in business affairs and is serving as secretary of the Owensboro Building and Loan Association.

In Hartford, Kentucky, Mr. Taylor was married, August 9, 1899, to Miss Laura B. Render, daughter of William Berry and Gabriella (Turns) Render, who still reside in that town. Mrs. Render's parents, J. P. and Kitty (Brown) Turns, lived on a farm in Ohio county, and the family was formerly known as Torrence. The father was a member of the Baptist church and a democrat in his political views. Mr. Render was born February 27, 1826, in Ohio county, Kentucky, and in 1926 celebrated his hundredth birthday anniversary with members of the family and a number of old friends at his hospitable home. He was engaged in farming near Green river for many years, and his present residence is -situated about three miles from the place of his birth. His mind is alert and he is as well and active as many men who are years his junior. His sister, Sallie, died at the age of seventy-five and his brother, Elijah Green, reached the eighty-fourth milestone on life's journey, while another brother passed away at the age of eighty-six years. Mr. Render is affiliated with the Baptist church and gives his political allegiance to the democratic party. He has always taken a deep interest in educational matters and served for several years as school trustee, the only office he has ever consented to fill. His parents were Thomas and Ann (Phipps) Render, the latter of whom was born in Hartford, Kentucky, and there passed away. His father was an agriculturist and a lifelong resident of Ohio county. He was a Baptist in religious faith and a democrat in his political views.

William B. Render was left an orphan before he was five years old and was reared by his grandfather, the Rev. George Render, whose home is situated in the mining town of McHenry. The building was erected more than a century ago and is now used as a parsonage for the Baptist church. Its former owner was a native of Virginia and passed away in Ohio county, Kentucky. He was a Baptist minister and rode on horseback from his home to Yellow Banks, the early name of Owensboro, and to Red Banks, now Henderson, in order to preach the gospel to the residents of those communities. William B. Render first married Miss Eliza Jane Austin, by whom he had four children, and Samuel P., the youngest, is living in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. To his second union, with Gabriella Turns, were born ten children, and four sons and four daughters survive, namely: Mrs. A. P. Taylor and Mrs. J. C. Berry, of Owensboro; Mrs. R. D. Walker, of Hartford, Kentucky; Mrs. E. W. Ford, of Crescent City, Florida; E. D. Render, of Fort Worth, Texas; L. M. Render, vice president of the Fidelity & Columbia Trust Company of Louisville, Kentucky; S. C. Render, of Hartford, Kentucky; and William Wayne Render, a resident of Florida. William B. Render also has thirty-three grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren, all of whom joined in celebrating his centennial.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have a family of five children. The eldest, Mary Lee, was born March 30, 1902. She completed a course in the Owensboro high school in 1919 and then entered the State Normal College at Bowling Green, from which she received a diploma in 1921. She was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1925 and is a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at Bowling Green. Corinth Catherine, born December 17, 1905, was graduated from the local high school in 1923 and in 1927 completed a course in the University of Kentucky. The others are: Francis Peyton, who was born August 16, 1908, and is also a graduate of the Owensboro high school; Emily G., who was born August 22, 1911, and is a high school pupil; and Elizabeth Greene, born July 8, 1913, also a student at the Owensboro high school.

Mrs. Taylor was born March 5, 1874, in Ohio county, Kentucky, and in 1895 was awarded a diploma by Hartford College. She subsequently broadened her education by study in the State University and was graduated with the class of 1926. She belongs to the Woman's Club of Owensboro and is a consistent member of the First Baptist church, with which her husband is also affiliated. He casts his ballot for the candidates of the democratic party and champions every project for the good of his community. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are members of the Kappa Delta Pi fraternity. Mr. Taylor is a member of Star Lodge, No. 19, K. P., of which he is past commander, and during the World war was one of the four-minute speakers. He is actuated by high ideals of service and keeps in close touch with the most advanced thought of the day along educational lines. He is energetic, broad minded and progressive and has won the respect and admiration of his fellow citizens.
