The Rosine Cemetery is located at Rosine on the west side of Highway 1544 a short distance north of its intersection with Highway 62.

The Rosine Cemetery began as the Ashford family cemetery. Three generations of my family are buried here – great-grandparents, Joseph B. & Hester (Ashford) Young, great-great-grandparents, Joseph M. & Thena (Watson) Ashford and great-great-great-grandfather, John S. Ashford. My grandparents, Benjamin F. & Anna Mae (Young) Long, had a farm about three miles north of Rosine, where I frequently spent time in growing up and made many visits to Rosine.

The same facts are related by many distant branches of our family. John S. Ashford (c1810-1867) was the first buried in what is now the Rosine Cemetery (interviews by Jerry Long of Flora Ashford Daniel, 1891-1989, granddaughter of John S. Ashford, on 3 November 1980; Arthur Minton, 1896-1996, great-grandson of John S. Ashford, on 3 November 1980; and Bessie Felix, 1907-1995, wife of Earl P. Austin, a great-grandson of John S. Ashford, on 20 October 1980, Bessie had an amazing knowledge of the family that has been validated by other records). John S. Ashford came from Allen County, Ky. and settled near the present town of Rosine in 1859 prior to the birth of the town. His family appears in the 1860 census of Ohio County in the Caney District with post office at Briggs Mill (later Olaton). John S. Ashford, his son, William H. Ashford, and three of his son-in-laws, Robert McReynolds, Meredith Hughes, and William Preston Downs, owned land along the Pigeon Roost Creek that bordered, on the west, the site that first became Pigeon Roost Station, in the early 1870's, and what later became the town of Rosine. John S. Ashford made purchases of land in 1861, 1865 & 1867, William H. Ashford in 1859, McReynolds in 1854 & 1855, Hughes in 1860 & 1865 and Downs in 1869. [See articles, "Rosine Cemetery", by Jerry Long, Ohio County, Kentucky Cemetery Records, Volume IV, Ohio County Historical Society, Hartford, KY, 1986, pp143-155; Rosine Cemetery", by Bobby Anderson, Beaver Dam Messenger, Beaver, Dam, KY, 18 September 1996 and Ashford family pictures submitted by Jerry Long (Ohio County Times-News, Hartford, KY, 25 July 1991 p8A].

Between the years 1869 and 1908 there were twenty-two deeds recorded by William P. Downs and wife, Martha (Ashford), by which they sold land adjacent to the town of Rosine in lots. Purchasers included Leonard T. Cox, John W. Ragland, and Green B. Van Nort, all early noted residents of Rosine. Leonard T. Cox according to the book, Kentucky: A History of the State (J. H. Battle, W. H. Perrin & G. C. Kniffin, 1885, Ohio County biography section) "in 1870, located at Rosine, becoming the first merchant of the place." Cox in the 1870 census of Ohio County was reported to be a dry-goods merchant and was enumerated two households from the family of William Preston & Martha Downs and was near several other Ashford family members.

John S. Ashford was born about 1810 in Fayette County, KY. He was the son of Thomas Ashford & Nancy Stone and grandson of John Ashford. His grandfather, John Ashford, who brought his family to Kentucky about 1801, had been a resident of Fairfax County, VA, where members of his family had been neighbors to Gen. George Washington and had deeded him land that had become part of his legendary Mount Vernon estate. About 1818 John S., with his parents and grandparents moved to Allen County, KY.

John S. Ashford married twice and had 17 children. He married Margaret Jane Pippin (1813-1854), 12 October 1830 Sumner County, TN; she was a granddaughter of Revolutionary War veteran Christopher Haines. John S. & Margaret had 14 children – Mary F. (married James Robert McReynolds), John Presley (married Martha E. Rice, widow of Johnson Wilson, who died at the Battle of Shiloh in 1862), William Henry (married Margaret White), Sarah (married Meredith Hughes), Cynthia Ann (married Meredith Hughes), Joseph Melvin (married Charlotte Ford & Thena Ann Watson), Jesse (died single), Catherine Ann (married Nimrod Bruce Wilson), Thomas (married Nancy Ann Stewart), Martha Ann (married William Preston Downs), Eliza A. (married Uriah M. Hughes), James Margaret ('Jim', daughter, died single), Maria Elizabeth (married Thomas Newcomb), Louisa C. (married Benjamin Franklin Autry). John S. Ashford married second his cousin, Julia Ann Shipley, 12 January 1857 Allen County, KY, she married 2nd James Alfred Miller, 18 October 1868 Ohio County, KY. John S. & Julia had three children – James Robert ('Tobe', married Josie F. Schroader), Samuel Franklin ('Dick, married Cynthia Ann Schroader & Mary Watson Renfrow Monroe) and Vitula A. (married Alexander Schroader).

Four of the sons of John S. Ashford served in the Union Army during the Civil War. His sons, William Henry & Jesse, gave their lives at the Battle of Shiloh on 6 April 1862 (A Hundred Miles A Hundred Heartbreaks, by John Blackburn, 1972, p203). Another son, Joseph Melvin, lost his right arm in the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain, Georgia, and due to his loss received the second highest Civil War pension in Ohio County ("Pensions", Hartford Herald, Hartford, KY, 13 February 1884, p4; Civil War pension file of Joseph M. Ashford; Ohio County Circuit Court suit #2509, Joseph M. Ashford versus Charlotte Ashford). John S. Ashford's son-in-laws, Meredith Hughes and Nimrod Bruce Wilson, also served in the military during the War Between the States; Hughes was a Union soldier and Wilson was a member of the Confederate Army.

When in 1867 John S. Ashford died he was buried on the farm then owned by his-son-law, Meredith Hughes (Ohio County estate files – Julia Ann Ashford appointed administratrix of his estate on 21 October 1867; appraisal of his estate was made on 1 November 1867; and sale of his estate was on 2 November 1867). It is possible the family cemetery may have already been begun before his death. Meredith Hughes' wife, Sarah Ashford, died between 1860 and 1867 and it is probable she was also buried on her husband's farm. Then when John Ashford died he was buried beside his daughter. If not, John S. Ashford would have been the oldest generation of the family buried there. The town of Rosine later was born near the site of the family graveyard and the family cemetery became the town's public cemetery. Part of the land previously owned by John S. Ashford was later transferred by his son-in-law, Meredith Hughes, to Henry Davis McHenry (1826-1890); see microfilm reel 19 of Ohio County Circuit Court records, frame #1624, file #2300, heirs of John S. Ashford versus John A. Ford & Henry D. McHenry). McHenry on land he had purchased laid out the town of Rosine on 15 September 1873 (plat of the boundaries and town lots in Rosine was recorded by Henry D. McHenry in Ohio County deed book X, p166).

The grave of John S. Ashford is unmarked, but the site was near a large cedar tree. The tree stood in the Rosine Cemetery until the 1950's when trees in the cemetery were cut down. The stump of the tree can still be seen in the Ashford plot of the cemetery. The oldest known burials in the Rosine Cemetery are in the Ashford family plot. They are:

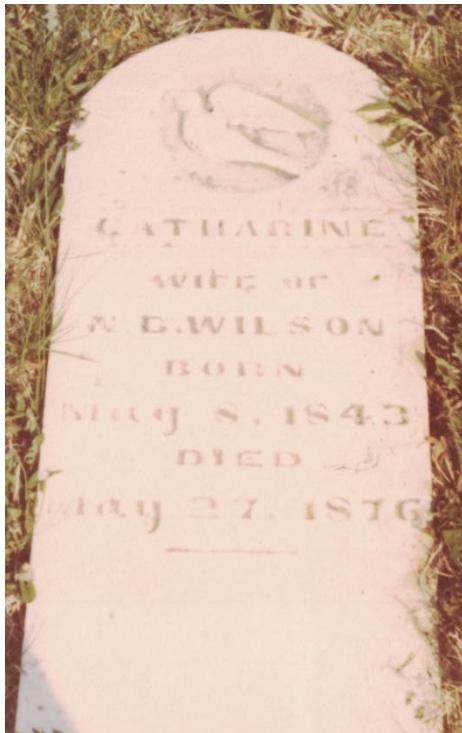

- John S. Ashford, born c1810 and died 1867. Grave is unmarked.
- Alonzo C. Wilson (son of Nimrod Bruce Wilson and Catherine Ann Ashford, grandson of John S. Ashford) born 28 July 1869, died in October 1869.

- Meredith Hughes (married two of John S. Ashford's daughters, Sarah and Cynthia). Meredith Hughes, a Civil War veteran, has a military stone, it has no dates on it, but he was born c1836 and died in 1874 (his wife, Cynthia, was appointed administratrix of his estate on 21 March 1874).

- Catherine Ann Wilson (daughter of John S. Ashford and wife of Nimrod Bruce Wilson) born 8 May 1843, died 27 May 1876.

- Mary F. Ashford (daughter of John S. Ashford and wife of James Robert McReynolds) born c1833 and died 1861-1870 (interview of her grandson Arthur Minton, 1896-1996, by Jerry Long on 3 November 1980). Her grave is unmarked.
- James Margaret Ashford, 'Jim' (daughter of John S. Ashford), born c1851 and died 7 May 1879 (interview of Bessie Felix, 1907-1995, wife of Earl P. Austin, a great-grandson of John S. Ashford, on 20 October 1980). Hartford Herald, Hartford, KY, Wednesday, 14 May 1879, p3: "Died, in Rosine, Wednesday morning, last of consumption, Miss Margaret Ashford." Grave is unmarked.

Outside of members of the Ashford family the oldest monuments in the cemetery are for Andrew L. Cummings, died 1895, and Eliza Ragland, died 1899. In the Ohio County newspapers the first reference to a burial at the "Rosine Cemetery" is for Rev. James W. Taylor, who died on 12 February 1895 (see Hartford Herald, Hartford, KY, 20 February 1895 p3).

The following was printed in the Rosine community column appearing in the newspaper, Ohio County Times-News (4 January 1996, column by Wendell C. Allen & Frances Harvey):

Here's some Rosine history in closing. No doubt there are several in Rosine who won't know three cemeteries existed in Rosine. One, a private family plot, the Otto cemetery was located near the end on the left of the road leading up to the railroad. The other was the Faught cemetery, a resting place for some early Rosine families. Leaving town west, motorists cross Faught's creek and the cemetery is at the top of the hill, corner up from what once was home for the Rosine baseball team. Then there is the present Rosine cemetery, first referred to as the Ashford cemetery where burials take place today.

The Kentucky Encyclopedia, John E. Kleber, ed., Lexington, KY, The University Press of Kentucky, 1992. P782:

Rosine, a small rural town in eastern Ohio County, is located eight miles east of Beaver Dam and fourteen miles west of Caneyville on both U.S. 62 and the Paducah & Louisville (P&L) Railroad. The area was originally known as Pigeon Roost, after a local branch of Muddy Creek, where in pioneer days huge flocks of pigeons came to roost in the large cedar trees. With the coming of the Elizabethtown & Paducah Railroad (now the P&L) in 1872, the town was founded as Rosine by Col. Henry D. McHenry (1826-90), a local lawyer, coal entrepreneur, and U.S. congressman. His wife, Jenny (Taylor) McHenry, in 1867 had used the name Rosine for a book of poetry, Forget Me Not. The post office, established on January 16, 1872, as Pigeon Roost, changed its name to Rosine in 1873. The town was officially incorporated on March 16, 1878, and grew quickly, with lumber as a major industry until a fire destroyed the business district in 1900. By 1990, Rosine was no longer a thriving city and was unincorporated. The city is known as the home of Bill Monroe, the "Father of Bluegrass Music," who was born three miles to the south.

Following are two lists of burials in the Rosine Cemetery. The first is a listing of inscriptions on the monuments in the cemetery made by Jerry Long on November 1 & 2, 1982. The second list consists of additional burials compiled in 2021. The second list was documented through death certificates, obituaries or other records. Information in parenthesis was on the monument and that in brackets are annotations. Names indented are on the same monument as the one preceding.

Inscription: "Uncle Pen immortalized in song by his nephew Bill Monroe, Father of Bluegrass Music and member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. 'Late in the evening about sundown, high on the hill above the town, Uncle Pen played the fiddle, Lord how it would ring, you could hear it talk you could hear it sing'.

[s/o Joseph M. Vandiver & Minerva Pharris]

Memorial erected by "Uncle Pen's" nephew, Bill Monroe, in 1973.

Picture taken by Jerry Long on 23 April 1980

In front, with hat, Pendleton Vandiver (1869-1932), and friend, Clarence Remus Wilson (1874-1957), son of Amanda Jane Vance, 3rd wife of Nimrod Bruce Wilson; in back – on left unknown, in center Flossie Ann Wilson Hines (1910-1997, daughter of Clarence & Minnie Cook Wilson) and Vercie Marie Monroe Moore (1914-1992, daughter of Andrew S & Willie Kuykendall Monroe).

The following additions were made in 2021. In the newspaper death notices and death certificates there are others that were reported to have been buried at Rosine. Research, however, reveals that in many of these references it was meant they were buried in the Rosine area not necessarily in the "Rosine Cemetery".

Bill Monroe (1911-1996) circa 1951

William ('Bill') Smith Monroe (1911-1996), "Father of Bluegrass Music" and member of the Country Music Hall of Fame, with friend and writer, James Arvin Hines (1926-2017) of Rosine. Hines is carrying Monroe's million dollar mandolin. Photo given to Jerry Long by James Arvin Hines.

Grave of Bill Monroe in the Rosine Cemetery, Picture taken by Jerry Long on 1 May 1999

Woosley's General Store in Rosine at intersection of Highways 62 & 1544. Built during the 1930's and operated by Edith & Everett Woosley from 1944 until 1989. It was the center piece of the Rosine community. It was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 2003. Highway 1544 is on the left and on opposite side of 1544 and down about a block is the Rosine Cemetery. Picture was taken by Jerry Long on 23 April 1980.
