The preceding listing of “Ohio County Kentucky Veterans Headstones Applications”, by Thomas D. Ashby, was also published in the periodical, Kentucky Family Records, Vol. 17, West-Central Kentucky Family Research Association, Owensboro, KY, 1993, pages 93-102. The article was introduced by the following Editors Note and letter by Mr. Ashby:

EDITORS NOTE: The following article and research was submitted by Thomas D. Ashby of Western Springs, IL. At the time of submission in November 1991 the information had been submitted to and used in Harry Tinsley's column which appears in the Ohio County Times-News. Because Mr. Ashby's research had just been published I felt that I should not publish the research immediately in the KENTUCKY FAMILY RECORDS. The following letter which Mr. Ashby submitted is the background for the research and also his correspondence with Mr. Tinsley at the time he submitted this work to the Ohio County Times-News.

October 12, 1991

Mr. Harry D. Tinsley
Ohio County Times-News
Hartford, Kentucky 42347

Dear Mr. Tinsley,

For quite a while now I have been wondering about the headstone of my Great, Great, Grandfather William D(evon) Ashby which is located in the Old Coleman Cemetery, in a field near the Old Coleman family farmhouse (presently Glendon Brown's home, near Beaverdam). It has a star right at the top center of the tombstone. William was born on 13 March 1831 and died on 28 February 1870, and could have fought in the Civil War, as he would have been of about the right age. So on a recent trip to Washington, D. C. I decided to look in the National Archives for all the soldiers named William (Devon) Ashby that fought in the Civil War for both the Union and the Confederacy from Kentucky. I found a total of three soldiers named William or William D. Ashby that fought for the Union and a total of six soldiers named William Ashby that fought for the South in The Index of Civil War Soldiers on microfilm. These records listed each soldier showing the unit he had joined. Then I looked for the records of each of the soldiers in the microfilm for each unit mentioned hoping to find a correlation between a soldier's age, place of muster-in, spouse, or residence. I only found one William Ashby who was definitely from the Ohio County area, but it appeared from the records was four or five years older than my relative. Reaching a dead-end there I asked an archive employee if there were records, such as applications for headstones for Civil War veterans shown anywhere. He indicated that there were records, however they weren't on microfilm and if I wanted to see them I would have to call the next business day and ask to speak to someone in the Military Reference Branch of the National Archives, who could obtain the records for me and allow me to come at a later time and view the original records in the researchers library.

The next day I contacted Mr. William E. Lind of the Military Reference Branch and he agreed to provide "all" of the tombstone applications that were received from the state of Kentucky for my research that evening in the researchers library reading room. If you have ever viewed original records you realize that they are packed in acid-free cardboard boxes that are completely closed to keep out light. The boxes are placed on shelves in the archives and moved around on carts when they are requested by a researcher. When he said I would have the chance to view the records from the entire State of Kentucky, I was expecting a heavily laden cart with multiple boxes of records. However when I arrived that evening to do my research there was only one small box for the entire state. The applications were arranged behind cardboard tabs with a county name on each tab. The records were letter size pages that had been folded in thirds many years ago. When I looked at the records for Ohio County, I found about a five inch stack. As I started to go through the records to look for my relative's name, I realized I could do the residents of Ohio County interested in family history a service and copy ALL the records for the County. So after about four hours I walked out of the reading room with nine pages of handwritten notes that contained information on every Ohio County veteran headstone application submitted.

I have typed up my notes and am sending you a copy so that you might include them in your newspaper column, then they can be available for everyone that's interested to review.

The actual records may contain more information than I have included here, but I had to conserve my time in the library and therefore developed a method of taking the pertinent data from the applications as quickly as possible. In some cases other specific information was shown on attached correspondence that accompanied the application and I was able to extract it rather quickly, such as birth date, military service dates, a relative's name, etc. In those cases I made notes of that information and have included it in my typed notes.

I did not find the William D(evon) Ashby that I was looking for in the headstone records for Ohio County and I'm still trying to find the significance of the star on his headstone. However, I hope others will find the information that I have included of some interest.

Sincerely,
Tom Ashby

WPA's REGISTRATION OF VETERANS GRAVES
OHIO COUNTY, KY

When the Great Depression hit the United States in 1929, the American economy hit rock bottom. The value of the dollar became nearly worthless and millions of Americans lost their jobs. In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt introduced "The New Deal," a series of new programs designed to pick America back up on to its feet and get the economy moving again. The Works Progress Administration (WPA), founded in 1935, was one of the federal work programs. The Graves Registration Program was one of several projects of the WPA. The purpose of this public project was to learn and record burial data on men who had served our country from the American Revolution through World War I. Some of this recorded information will not be found through any other sources.

These records were not comprehensive of all veterans' graves in Ohio County; they are only the ones identified by the WPA workers. Many names are misspelled and many dates are in error. However, the greatest value in this listing is in the identification of the place of burial. A few corrections of surnames by Jerry Long are included in brackets.

The original record may include – birth and death, enlistment and discharge dates, what war served in, the organization in which veteran served along with his rank and the name of the informant who reported the information. Thirteen veterans of the Revolutionary War and two veterans of the War of 1812 are listed. Others listed were veterans of the Mexican War, Spanish American War and World War I; others served during peace time. Only one woman appears – Elizabeth Carter, who was a nurse and dispatch carrier during the Civil War.

Elmwood Cemetery in the listing is Hayti Cemetery in Hartford and Saw Mill Cemetery is the Old Mill Cemetery.

Part of the last page on the microfilm (with 21 names) is missing and I could not complete the birth, death and cemetery entries.
